Welcome to IAWMH2017 Dublin

On behalf of the National Women’s Council of Ireland (NWCI) and Trinity College Dublin (TCD) we would like to extend a very warm welcome to the 7th World Congress for the International Association of Women’s Mental Health (IAWMH) to be held in the Royal Dublin Society (RDS) on 6-9 March 2017 to coincide with International Women’s Day March 8th. NWCI and TCD are delighted to be co-hosting this Congress. We intend it to be a unique networking and learning opportunity for professionals of various disciplines to meet and discuss best practices and innovative developments to improve women’s mental health across the life cycle.

The reproductive healthcare services and rights of women in Ireland are to the forefront of national debate and discussion. NWCI leads a vibrant women’s movement in Ireland with a strongly diverse range of women’s organisations. What many of these organisations share is a commitment to advancing women’s mental and physical health and ensuring equal access to quality healthcare for all women. TCD is involved in cutting edge research in areas related to women’s mental health from infancy to old age. The TCD research community will bring together world leaders in research from diverse academic fields. This will include population-based studies, through clinical services research to molecular medicine.

The theme of the Congress this year is Rights, Resilience & Recovery. We believe that a rights, equality and scientifically evidence-based approach to women’s mental health can best support and empower women when they are ill and on the road to recovery. With this Congress we want to create a space for a rights and evidence based exploration of women’s mental health in Ireland and internationally.

Although Ireland is a small country, our traditions of looking outward and of transcontinental migration have helped create a world where the Irish diaspora are found everywhere. Our location, between Europe and America, and our traditions combine to produce a land that is accessible, welcoming, and a pleasure to visit. We expect that for many this will be a first visit to Ireland, while for others it will be an opportunity to return home. There will also be a significant number who, though of Irish ancestry, have never visited our shores. To all delegates and partners, whether this is a first visit, a homecoming, or in a sense both of these, we can offer an experience to exceed your expectations. A visit to Dublin offers a chance to see other parts of the country too. Ireland is simply one of the world’s best travel destinations. A landscape of stunning beauty, with a deep cultural and literary history, and a warm and welcoming people have combined to earn us this reputation. We sincerely hope you enjoy the Congress and your stay with us and that together we can make a real difference to women’s mental health.

Sincerely

Orla O Connor - Director
National Women’s Council of Ireland

Welcome from the IAWMH

We are delighted to personally welcome each of you to the 7th World Congress for the International Association of Women’s Mental Health (IAWMH). Established in 2001 to improve the mental health of women throughout the world, the International Association for Women’s Mental Health is a Not for Profit, Non-Governmental Organization.

Our missions is:
• To improve the mental health of women throughout the world.
• To expand the fund of knowledge about Women’s Mental Health.
• To promote gender-sensitive and autonomy-enhancing mental health services for women.
• To advance collaboration between Societies and Sections

It is an exciting time for the IAWMH as we continue to grow and provide advocacy for women’s mental health and women with mental ill health, and support and innovation for clinicians and researchers working in these fields. Our Association is dedicated to raising global awareness about the special issues that women face with adverse impacts on mental health. Throughout the world women face different challenges at different times of their lives and confronting mental ill health can be a time of hope or else a devastating experience if proper care and understanding are not available.

The IAWMH Congresses provide important opportunities for delegates to share experiences of working with women to improve their mental health and to learn about new advances in the field. Congress delegates are crucial in the development of our Association and the impact that we can have on actually improving the mental health of women throughout the world.

This Congress is to be held in exciting Dublin with a fascinating mixture of old world traditions and the rich, vibrant, modern day Irish culture. The organizers are working very hard to ensure that the programme contains a superb mix of neuroscience, psychosocial and environmental presentations that are highly relevant to women’s mental health and treatments for mental illnesses. Throughout the Congress, we encourage the delegates to learn from each other, to share experiences, and to relax and enjoy famous Irish hospitality.

The Congress theme “Rights, Resilience and Recovery” encapsulates the many facets of women’s mental health and we hope that attending the 7th World Congress for The International Association of Women’s Mental Health enriches you all.

A very warm welcome to you

General Information

The Royal Dublin Society (RDS) was founded in 1731 when fourteen Irishmen came together in Dublin united by a common aim – to improve the poor economic condition of the country by promoting agriculture, arts, industry and science in Ireland. This objective, they believed, could be achieved by the dissemination of knowledge and new ideas.

Over the course of three centuries the RDS has pursued, with vigour, its mission to encourage the development of agriculture, arts, science and industry throughout the country by educating, providing practical guidance, rewarding excellence and encouraging ability. Its mission remains as relevant today as it was in 1731.

The RDS will play host to IAWMH 2017 for the next week for all conference sessions.

Address: Royal Dublin Society, Merrion Road, Ballsbridge, Dublin 4

Premiere: Out of Silence
20:00 – 22:00
Tuesday 7th March – Dublin City Hall
(Dame Street, Dublin 2)
Hosted by NWCI (National Women’s Council of Ireland and Dublin City Council)

The National Women’s Council of Ireland have produced a short film “Out of Silence” on women’s mental health on the occasion of hosting the 7th World Congress on Women’s Mental Health in Dublin. The film will premiere on Tuesday March 7th at Dublin’s City Hall. It will be launched by Helen McEntee, TD, and Minister of State for Mental Health and Older People, who is also chair of the National Task Force on Youth Mental Health.

With its launch, this film will begin the work of making visible women’s particular experiences of mental health problems. It will highlight a number of key themes in order illustrate the gender differences in how women experience mental and emotional health, and the particular policy and practice responses needed to address women’s specific needs.

The film will highlight that women’s mental health needs are different but equal to men’s. It will be the first of its kind in Ireland, exploring mental health from a women’s perspective. The short film includes interviews from women, health professionals, practitioners and researchers, offering a blend of direct experiences, research facts and figures, and policy analysis regarding what action needs to be taken.

*Due to limited numbers please sign up for this event early to avoid any disappointment, Please note an email will be sent to registered delegates to attend.

Congress Evening Event
8th March 2017

The Congress Social evening will take place in the historic and beautiful surrounds of Trinity College. As one of our local hosts Trinity College will throw open the doors to their Dining Hall for us for our Congress Dinner, the culmination of the week’s social events which also coincides with International Women’s Day – making it a double celebration! It will be a fun and relaxed evening of Irish food, drink, music and culture.

We are delighted to announce that this event will be opened by Dean for Health Sciences of Trinity College, Professor Mary McCarron

There will be entertainment from Ann Tuite Harpist and also Celtic Dance Fusion, which promises to be an act like no other!

On this night delegates will be treated to delicious food, with traditional entertainment which will prove to be a memorable experience for all.

HOW TO GET THERE
Coaches will collect all delegates outside RDS Conference Venue. These coaches will be dropping off the delegates at the Nassau Street entrance of Trinity College, conference staff standing by to usher you to the venue itself.

PICK UP: 19:30 – Coaches will be departing from the Angelsea Road side of the RDS, this is the front of the RDS

COLLECTION: 22:00 – Delegates will be collected at Nassau Street opposite Kilkenny design

COLLECTION: 22:30 – Delegates will be collected at Nassau Street opposite Kilkenny design
IAWMH Exhibition

We are delighted to host some of the most impactful and beautiful exhibitions at this Congress which will be on show for the duration of the Congress.

Women to Blame
Hosted by: Language
Over four decades women in Ireland have been subject to repression, shaming and criminal sanctions in their attempts to express their sexuality and reproductive rights. Women’s bodies have been the subject of Tribunals, Referendums, accusations and censorship.

Women to Blame will visually represent the events before, during and after the Eighth Amendment when, article 40.3.3. Was inserted into the Irish Constitution.

Pavee Point
Though Irish Travellers make up less than 1% of Ireland’s population, they are 6 times more likely to commit suicide than the majority population, with suicide accounting for approximately 11% of all Traveller deaths. Travellers’ poor mental health and suicide is rooted in interlocking systems of oppression which has particular consequences for Traveller women. Through an intimate set of portraits, this photographic display illuminates Traveller women’s embedded experiences and perceptions of mental health, grounded in their own words. Pavee Beoirs and Lackeens: Our Health, Our Words contextualises the complex and often nuanced structural and institutional forces that shape Traveller women’s mental health in contemporary Ireland.

Faces of Defiance
Hosted by: Human Dignity Foundation
The Face of Defiance is collaboration between photographer Jason Ashwood and renowned international campaigner Leyla Hussein. The project is a collection of empowering portraits and biographies of survivors of female genital mutilation (FGM) and their daughters (where appropriate) which will ultimately become the first book of and their daughters (where appropriate) which will ultimately become the first book of its kind.

The Face of Defiance seeks to become a resource that survivors and campaigners across the world will find inspiration in, and feel empowered to seek support and engage with the campaign to end FGM within all affected communities.
The portraits are also a documentary of change; where mothers who have been cut as children are photographed with their daughters or relatives who they have prevented from undergoing the same abuse. This represents a break in the generational cycle, now creating a generation and subsequent generations of girls free of this abuse.

Riverine
With the support of the Simon Cumbers Media Fund, Maurice Gunning and Alice McDowell, Galway Film Centre
In a series of intimate photographic portraits, the exhibition explores the physical and internal landscapes of nine women: utilising interviews and ambient recording from their homes in The Gambia. These women have made the life-changing decision to abandon the traditional practice of female circumcision. However, as custodians of the tradition, their actions to cease this practice have not always been embraced by their communities: as female circumcision is widely regarded as a religious and cultural obligation. Also victims of the traditional practice, the women share stories of their own trauma and psychological journey in coming to terms with their past. The nine women and their stories presented here, illustrate how combining the elements of custom and tradition with education and knowledge, great change can come about for a country and its people. All nine women are forging a new life and livelihood for themselves, and most importantly, a new future for women in The Gambia.

Sparks
Created by Aoife Price, SPARKS to help those going through a difficult time. Aoife uses light text complemented by imaginative illustrations. The book, first published in 2014 was followed up with a touring exhibition and animated film. The Exhibition has been exhibited in venues throughout Ireland including Galway University Hospital as part of Galway Fringe Festival, Waterford University Hospital as part of Well Festival, Waterford City Library and St. John of God’s Psychiatric Hospital Dublin. Internationally, SPARKS has featured at the UN World Youth Day ‘Mental Health Matters’ celebrations in New York and at the International Association for Youth Mental Health Conference in Montreal. Aoife was awarded the prestigious Trinity Legacy Award for her pioneering work on SPARKS.
